

PHILOSOPHY

Philosophy is the study of knowledge, reason, existence and value. Philosophers carefully consider the nature of the universe, humanity's place in it, the proper conduct of individual and social life, and what we can know. Studying philosophy involves learning about its methods and history as well as its sub-disciplines — metaphysics, epistemology, and ethics to name but a few. We also offer courses in a variety of important and cutting-edge topics including philosophy of science, philosophy of law, philosophy of sex and love, and so on.
