Chancellor's Welcome

Nathan Matthew

Congratulations, graduates.
Welcome, families, friends and guests.

Today, the graduating class of 2018 celebrates all they've achieved during their time at Thompson Rivers University. Many will be embarking on new careers and new experiences, on further scholarship and grand adventures.

You are all beginning a new journey, one that will be forever informed by your education and experiences here.

As a graduate, you will take the diversity of opinion and ideas sparked by your education to your workplace, to your community and to your country. Be mindful of the skills and knowledge you've achieved and the values you share with the world—it will influence the people around you.

Today is a day to celebrate all you've achieved with your family and friends. You've worked hard. As you prepare for the next stage, take a moment to reflect on how far you've come, and where you want to go next. Pursue your passions. Commit to lifelong learning.

Thompson Rivers University is your alma mater, and will remain a place of engagement, of learning and of connection, regardless of where you go. You are a member of the TRU family. Stay in touch.

Again, congratulations. I wish you all the best on your future endeavours.

Nathan Matthew
Chancellor
Thompson Rivers University

President & Vice-Chancellor's Welcome

Christine Bovis-Crossen

Welcome, graduates. Today, with family, friends, faculty and staff, we celebrate our students' professional and academic milestones. Congratulations to each of you for successfully reaching your academic goals.

At TRU, you have embraced opportunities for learning, service and leadership here in our community or halfway around the globe. Ideas, people, challenges and possibilities have inspired you. The support and encouragement of family, friends, faculty and staff have kept you on the path to success.

As you embark on new paths of study, travel or work in our global community, I encourage you to carry TRU's adventurous spirit and vision with you. Continue to imagine, create, innovate, inspire and lead. As TRU alumni, you will forever remain a member of our university family, representing Thompson Rivers University everywhere you go.

Following the ceremony, I invite you to celebrate with your friends, family, faculty and staff at the reception.

Congratulations, graduates, and best wishes for continued success.

Christine Bovis-Crossen
President and Vice-Chancellor (Interim)
Thompson Rivers University

Coat of Arms

As granted by Robert Douglas Watt, Chief Herald of Canada, on 1 April 2005, and entered in Volume IV, page 451 of the Public Register of Arms, Flags and Badges of Canada

Arms: The blue field refers to the brilliant skies, lakes and rivers that envelop the region where Thompson Rivers University is located. The wavy circle around the sun represents the sacred circle of life, a central tenet in First Nations belief systems. It also stands for the never-ending character of learning. Lastly, the wavy feature of the circle recalls that the university is located near a junction of several water sources vital to the First Nations of the region. The sun is a symbol of light and learning, a principal endeavour behind academic institutions.

Crest: The coronet honours the Indigenous peoples of the region by acknowledging the important role of fish as a food source and for recreational purposes in both their community and the community at large. The black bear, in past frequently seen on campus, represents strength, power and determination, qualities seen as vital to the success of Thompson Rivers University. Represented as a mythic creature, the winged bear allows for a further connection to the presence of migratory birds, thus suggesting perpetual striving for excellence across all faculties and programs.

Motto: T7ETSXEMÍNTE RE STSELXMÉM means "to strive ahead" in Secwépemctsin. It is the existing motto of Thompson Rivers University, and indicates that the journey of learning is enduring and unremitting.

Supporters: The mare and stallion symbolize grace, power and endurance, which characterize Thompson Rivers University's approach to learning and growth. They also refer to the major role horses play in farming and ranching activities associated with this region, both in the past and present. Their collars of sage are a reference to the distinctive local landscape. The medallions hanging from the collars feature open books and echo the motif of the active pursuit of knowledge. The mare and stallion stand on a representation of the local natural environment surrounding the university.

Original concept: Robert D. Watt, Chief Herald of Canada, assisted by the Heralds of Canadian Heraldic Authority

Painter: Linda Nicholson

Calligrapher: Shirley Mangione

Ceremonial Mace

Chief among the elements of Convocation is the ceremonial mace. Historically, the mace symbolizes rank and was used to protect people of authority. The mace is now a symbol of the university itself. It is carried by the Registrar, who leads the academic procession and recession.

The mace was conceptualized and carved by Kamloops-born Daniel Tom, a member of Tsal'alh (Seton Lake Band), which is part of the St'at'imc Nation, one of the Interior Salish Nations. The mace symbolizes Kamloops, the traditional meeting place of the First Nations people.

To represent TRU as a meeting place for sharing cultural and academic pursuits, Tom incorporated two pieces of spruce from the Kamloops area. One piece is used for the mace, the other is the base attached to BC soapstone in the shape of spawning salmon, and together the three pieces meet, embodying the characteristics of an abstract wolf—symbolic of TRU and local First Nations—is an animal associated with communication and a teacher of new ideas. The mace head, made from copper, represents the sun and moon and is adorned with four animals representative of the medicine wheel associated with seasons, directions, colours and life experiences. Positioned in the north is a white buffalo carved from translucent alabaster, representing family and indicating the direction cold winter winds come from and the spiritual state. A green fieldmouse carved from jade sits in the south, symbolizing the direction of the warm summer winds, the physical state and the future. In the east is an eagle cast in 18-karat gold, representing the cool autumn wind direction, the emotional state and the present. A black bear carved from black chlorite sits in the west and is indicative of spring, the mental state and the past.

To show TRU's connection to the environment, the mace is fashioned with only natural materials and colours. Other animal motifs also carved into the mace are the patient and wise great blue heron, which is significant to Tsal'alh. The salmon is prevalent as an Interior of British Columbia theme of prosperity and sustenance. A frog shape leaps over the heron's head towards the water and is typical of transformation. Other forms that emerge from the wood grain are coyote, bald eagle, grizzly bear and fish.

Academic Procession

Convocation ceremonies begin with an Academic Procession of official representatives, faculty and students dressed in academic regalia. This colourful event represents the rich cultural and historical traditions of universities.

Academic Regalia

Distinctive academic costume has been worn in universities since their inception some one thousand years ago. Until relatively recently, the basic items—gown, hood and mortarboard—were worn as a part of the everyday life of university.

Now largely symbolic, the costume indicates through its colours, trim and lining, the degree and the university giving the award. Blue and sage, TRU's official colours, are featured on many of the academic costumes.

Music

Processional by Sage Hills

Sage Hills' name represents the Kamloops area—Tk'emlúps as it is known to the Secwépemc people, "where the rivers meet"—and where the group makes their home.

Formed in the winter of 2003, Sage Hills has travelled to powwows throughout BC, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, California, Idaho and Washington. Their albums include Go for What You Know (2004) dedicated to their mothers; Where the Rivers Meet (2007); self-titled Sage Hills (2011), dedicated to singer late John Jules; and Grandfathers (2013). Sage Hills was a finalist for the Indigenous Music Awards (formerly Aboriginal Peoples' Choice Music Awards) and the Canadian Aboriginal Music Awards in 2011.

The drummers have several different tribal affiliations: Stoney, Sioux, Blood, Secwépemc, Syilx, Dakelh, Ts'ilhqot'in and Sto:lo First Nations.

Recessional by Kevin MacDonald, Piper-at-Large

TRU Piper-at-Large Kevin MacDonald has had the honour of summoning the spirit of Kamloops' Scottish links to the university's Convocation ceremonies for the past 20 years.

He has performed internationally as a professional soloist and pipe band member. He also performs for special occasions for the City of Kamloops.

He wears both the Modern MacDonald and MacDonald of the Isles Tartan.

National Anthem

"O Canada" is sung live at each ceremony by a TRU student, alum, faculty member or staff member. Lyrics are provided in English and French on page 10.

National Anthem

O Canada!
Our home and native land!
True patriot love in all of us command.
With glowing hearts we see thee rise,
The True North strong and free!
From far and wide,
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.
God keep our land glorious and free!
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.

O Canada!
Terre de nos aïeux,
Ton front est ceint de fleurons glorieux!
Car ton bras sait porter l'épée,
Il sait porter la croix!
Ton histoire est une épopée
Des plus brillants exploits.
Et ta valeur, de foi trempée,
Protégera nos foyers et nos droits.
Protégera nos foyers et nos droits.

Foundation

This is a life-changing day.

Your life at university, with its books and assignments and exams and hours of study, is done. For now, at least.

Your life after university, with its resumés and relaxing and maybe passports and wide-open future, is about to begin. There's so much uncertainty and potential waiting for you.

Today, the TRU Foundation Board, staff and volunteers celebrate this transitional day with you and wish you success and happiness, however you define them.

We hope you benefit from your education at TRU for the rest of your life. And we hope you find ways to make the world a better place, as cliché as that sounds. We can all do something to help others.

The TRU Foundation was created to help others—specifically, students. This nonprofit society raises money for financial support and scholarships for almost 1,000 students every year. Almost 3,000 TRU graduates, just like you, have given $3.6 million to other students over the years.

You can help someone get an education at TRU. As a new graduate, you might not have much money to give. It isn't about the amount, it's about providing support so others can have a bright future. Those who can't give money often give their time. Volunteers are also important and highly valued by the foundation.

Your future is bright. We ask that you think about leaving a legacy to light the way for others.

Make a tax-deductible donation or sign up to volunteer by getting in touch.

Alumni for Life

Dear graduates,

Congratulations on your academic achievement at TRU. You've worked hard and made the grade. You should be proud of what you've accomplished while you look forward to what comes next.

Whatever the future brings, please do not think that this is the end of your connection with TRU. The university has prepared you for another phase in your life, but that does not mean you need to leave your time and experiences at TRU behind.

You can be a part of the TRU alumni community that has been building since 1970. It has more than 57,000 members—family, really—who are spread throughout 87 countries. Stay connected with TRU and your classmates through the Alumni and Friends Association in many ways: regional events and socials, benefits and services, awards, stories, newsletters and Bridges magazine. And, of course, there is a website that puts it all in one place: tru.ca/alumni.

With TRU turning 50 in 2020, there's even more reason to sign up and stay in touch.

The association wants to know about the places you go and the things you do. TRU is proud of its graduates, and the Alumni and Friends Association wants to help everyone who has been influenced by the university to remain in touch.

So as you go forward and lead your life after university, remember that you are still a part of TRU and a community that wants to continue to celebrate your achievements.

Again, congratulations on reaching this remarkable day and best wishes for all that you do. You are alumni for life.
