envisionTRU

Guidelines

You may submit a succinct written submission of no more than two 8.5 x 11 pages.

Please consider the following when preparing your written submission:

- The documents under the Resources and 2019 TRU Environmental Scans tabs of the Envision TRU website contain background and contextual information that may be useful in preparing your submission.
- Thoughtstarters: Are there unique / original / innovative aspects of TRU (e.g.: programs, services, partnerships, initiatives etc.) that we should retain and further strengthen over the next ten years? What do you think the major needs of our region, province, country and planet will be over the next ten years? Imagine your "Ideal TRU of 2030". What will it look like? What will people be saying about it? How will it be providing value to the students and communities it serves?

Please provide the following information with your submission:

- Whether you want your submission to be posted anonymously or including your name.
- Which group(s) represent who you are:
  - (Faculty member f/t, Faculty member p/t, OLFM, Staff/Admin, Alumni, Community Member, Student. If a student or employee, how long have you been connected to TRU?)
  - (Optional) Which faculty or department are you affiliated with? Do any of the following diversity group(s) represent who you are: Male, Female, LGBTQ2S, Indigenous, International, Visible minority)
- Email your response with the subject line Envision TRU Submission to envision@tru.ca
- All submissions will be posted on the Envision TRU website provided they are respectful and do not include names of individuals or institutions other than TRU. All submissions will be converted to Arial 12 to support accessibility requirements. Our commitment to transparency has influenced our decision not to edit, exclude or censor any submission content; however, (i) the views expressed by submitters strictly their own and not the university's; and as such, (ii) the university cannot vouch for the accuracy or completeness of any written submission.
